About KKDC

KKDC is an established LED lighting manufacturer specializing in professional, integrated linear lighting solutions suitable for use within a wide range of projects and applications.

Targeting the high-end specification market with both interior and exterior options and various LED grades, KKDC has built up a strong reputation within the lighting sector as being able to offer an extensive and precise range of consistent white CCT LED and custom variations to meet the demands of any project.

With extensive in-house electronic engineering expertise from our Korean R&D team and working partnership with UK based KKDC Design House, KKDC remains uniquely positioned and committed to meeting the demands of high-end architectural lighting projects worldwide.

After many years in the lighting industry this projects book has been produced to showcase collated photography taken from a wide selection of successfully completed projects using KKDC LED lighting products. Intended for reference, inspiration and help with future specifications.

In 1932, Sydney mates Bill O'Brien and Harry Norville combined their surnames and formed Breville radios.

In 1974, Bill's son John turned his focus to food and the kitchen, launching the now famous sandwich toaster. A huge hit, the snack itself became known as a "Breville".

A continued culture of listening to the customer has led to many other world firsts, which are now sold in over 50 countries.
